Skin protection gloves with SILVER next to the skin

self-cleansing
temperature regulating
in medicine – work – everyday life

The skin on OUR hands are always exposed to a variety of stress everyday:

- When working with protective gloves excessive perspiration (hyperhidrosi) may quickly occur and subsequently is followed by hand eczema.
- Cold, stress and sudden temperature changes but also permanent vibrations can trigger the so-called Raynaud's disease. This is accompanied by a feeling of cold and numbness as well as a discolouration of the fingers to white (hence: white finger disease).
- Raynaud's often occur as a result of systemic scleroderma, an autoimmune disease.

In all of the above cases, seamless silver gloves are a natural, cortisone free alternative treatment. At BestSilver, with a special glove production process, with the „seamless technology“, was combined with a fibre made of 99.9% pure, natural silver.

These gloves have the following properties thanks to the silver fibre:

- they are antibacterial and
- temperature regulating,
- they can be helpful for the microcirculation and
- help reduce sweating by enhancing the evaporation of moisture.

Wearing the gloves gives you complete freedom and are full tactil. They have excellent fit to the fingers, palm and wrist, offering a high level of wearing comfort.

The areas of application of Best4Hand silver gloves

These Silver gloves are used in many European countries for Dermatitis, scleroderma and Raynaud's syndrome. They are recommended by German Health & Safety Associations awa some self-help organisations such as the British Raynaud's & Scleroderma Association.
